

LANDCRAFTED FOOD™

Our cattle are born and raised on sustainable family farms, in and around Grayson County, Virginia. We are firm believers that returning to the simplest, most traditional animal husbandry and processing methods yields the best tasting, most healthy foods, just like folks enjoyed generations ago. There are certain things we rely on, because we know they will always be true. Family and community bind us, but we are bound also to the land. It gives us a home and provides for our families. The farmers and producers at Landcrafted Food are dedicated to sustaining and serving our farms and community, by producing foods that are as good for the land as they are for the people who enjoy them.
